COMMUNITY CO-OPERATIONS

One of the most essential factors in the life of any small town, and particularly those adjacent to large cities is a hearty spirit of co-operation among the citizens, declares an exchange. It is vitally important that home industries, merchants and business men receive local support if the town is to make progress. During recent years every community has become infested with representatives of large business firms, who canvas from door to door in an effort to draw trade away from the local merchants.

When dealing with such individuals, it would be well for the citizens to keep certain outstanding facts in mind:

1. The merchants and business men who faithfully serve this community are among the largest tax-payers and without them this town would shrink into oblivion.

2. Local industries mean employment for many of our citizens, who, in turn are enabled to pay taxes, rent and other financial obligations.

3. Our business men and merchants, unlike their out-of-town competitors, are vitally interested in the maintenance of public services to all worthy local enterprises.

4. They maintain established business locations in the town, and are eager to offer you service—not merely for today, but throughout the year.

Keeping these facts constantly before us, let us all give our ready support to local tradesmen, merchants and business men in preference to out-of-town salesmen, that our town may continue to prosper and our citizens find ready employment at home.

ABOUT RUSSIA

Dr. H. L. Stewart, who speaks over the radio weekly on international affairs, recently told the story of how Lady Astor England's leading feminist, when interviewing Stalin in Moscow, asked him the question: "How long do you mean to continue killing people?" Quick as a flash came back the answer, "As long as it is necessary."

Apparently Stalin still thinks that killings are necessary in his sometimes-called Utopia, for the past year has seen wave after wave of political deaths, culminating recently in what amounted to a "purge." The last blood letting saw high executives in army and state executed mercilessly. Eight army generals and scores of Soviet government officials in the Far East were in the list and the story that the President of the White Russian Republic committed suicide is received with a good deal of scepticism.

In the meantime many more have been arrested and concentration camps swarmed with those who formerly held important posts but have now been expelled from the Communist party, allegedly for their connection with that arch Communist, Trotsky.

What is behind it all? What is the purpose of this wholesale clearing out? It is clearly evident that Russia is losing prestige with the rest of the world and France is beginning to doubt the wisdom of her political-military pact with her. The situation is such as to give Hitler and the Japanese reason to believe they have less to fear from the big eastern giant.

And yet the mock trials and the sudden executions go on and all the world wonders when it must come to an end and what that end will be.

PRIME MINISTER SPEAKS

Mr. King spoke over the radio the other evening. Many who had read the announcements that he intended doing so tuned in their receiving sets in anticipation of hearing something of interest. We rather judge they would be disappointed.

Realizing the limitations which anyone in Mr. King's position is in, we can readily understand why certain affairs cannot very well be discussed. But for a minister of the Crown, who had attended the Coronation. The Imperial Conference, visited the European continent and Herr Hitler, the Prime Minister's pronouncements were singularly devoid of interest to Canadians, and has succeeded in arousing practically no comment.

Mr. King did however warn the people of Canada that in the event of another war of major proportions breaking out somewhere, it might be impossible for Canada to remain aloof.

SALARY STRETCHING

In these troublous days of depression those on small salaries have to make it stretch like elastic to make ends meet. But here is a novel way, as a London clerk, of multiplying his wages. It appears he was receiving a weekly salary of the Canadian equivalent of twenty-five dollars. His friend noted that he was living "like a lord", and were sure that he couldn't "put on the dawg" in the manner he was doing for less than seventy-five dollars per week. Curiosity finally got the better of one of his friends, who sought an explanation, and this is the answer he got: "There are three hundred employees in the plant; I raffie my salary among them every week. Each pays twenty-five cents per ticket and the winner gets my wage cheque. Sometimes I sell 250 tickets, sometimes 350 tickets."

TITLES IN CANADA

We do not allow the King to give titles of honor and distinction to Canadians. The United States equally democratic is against such flummery and contrary to the genius of a Republican state. Recently, however, we had a visit from a citizen of that country. He was hailed as the Grand Monarch of the Mystic Order of Veiled Prophets of the Enchanted Realm. While here he was made chief of the Ojibway tribe and given another title, namely Neguabaub, which like Der Fuehrer, means The Leader. Our fraternal organizations would gradually fade away and die if we placed the same restrictions upon them as we have placed upon our King. We love titles and decorations but we also love to pretend we don't.

The fat of milk is spoken of as butter fat, because it is from that butter fat is made. Commercially, the fat is the most important constituent of milk, and, although in whole milk the average is only between 3 and 4 per cent of the total, market milk is judged by the depth of the cream line or the amount of butter fat it contains.

Oats rank second only to wheat on the basis of world production and, although the crop may be grown under widely different soil and climate conditions, about 75 per cent of the world crop of oats is produced in six countries, namely, Canada, the United Kingdom, the United States, Germany, France and Russia.

MASSEY-HARRIS MANURE SPREADER

See View of No. 8A Spreader Showing the Effective Beaters that give even distribution and the protective cover over drive

Use this low-down Easy Loading, Light Draft Spreader with its short turning narrow tread for General Farm Work

The Massey-Harris No. 8A Spreader is built for the man who wants to derive the greatest possible benefit from the natural fertilizing elements in manure. It is built narrow and will pass through gates only 6 1/2 feet wide. The auto-type front axle steering gear gives very short turning radius. Lightness of draft makes it easy on the horses. The controls are conveniently placed. All drives etc., are of great strength.

As will be seen in the illustration the beaters and wide spread distributors ensure fine spreading of the manure and even distribution over the field.

Who for your 1937 crop of the Massey-Harris

TOMATO CATSUP—

Select only ripe tomatoes for catsup wash, but do not peel, cut out green spots and decayed spots, quarter, measure and place in kettle. To each gallon of tomatoes add 1 cup finely chopped onion, 1/2 cup salt, 1/2 cup sugar, 1 cup vinegar. Boil until thick and then bottle.

PICKED BEETS—

1 quart sliced boiled beets
2 cups beet water
1 cup sugar
2 cups vinegar
1 teaspoon cloves

Beets must be thoroughly scrubbed with a brush before boiling so that the water in which they are cooked may be perfectly clear and bring in color. Boil liquid, sugar and spices together for a moment, add beets, when thoroughly hot put into acid jars and seal.

2 cucumbers
1 tablespoon salt
1 cup sugar

Countess Notes

A very interesting game was played on the Countess ball diamond Sunday July 24th, when the Countess girls softball team defeated the married men 40 to 10 by a score of 14-12. Although the girls were leading through the entire game the men made them work hard and really play ball. Even though there were many errors for both teams a number of good plays were made and it is believed that the girls are improving.

Girls Team—O. Ferguson, P. Ferguson, P. Cadot, D. Thiesen, E. Ferguson, E. Ferraby, R. Feuraby, D. Ferguson, A. Cowan.
Men Team—H. Cowan, L. Munro, H. Ferguson, J. Hawn, D. Price, M. Knoll, W. Hawes, G. McIntosh, Umpire—Roy Zinkl.

There is no method of accurately measuring the exact damage caused by soil drifting. It is estimated that one inch of surface soil blown from a single section of land means the movement of approximately 100,000 tons of soil. In Central Oklahoma, as a result of storms occurring in the high plains of the United States during March and April, 1935, dust was deposited at an average rate of 82 pounds per acre.

Pandora has no roots in Britain—Sydney R. Elliott.

Electric lighters great works: labor alone finishes them—Toubert.
We live by admiration, hope and love—Wordsworth.

Man, being essentially active, must find in activity his joy, as well as his beauty and glory; and labor, like everything else that is good, is its own reward—Whipple.

THE SUMMER SCOURGE OF INFANCY

As surely as the warm summer and the early autumn months roll around the health of Canadian babies will be menaced by a condition commonly called summer diarrhoea. Happily this complaint is not as prevalent as it was in the recent past, but it is still a very serious disease among infants in the first year of life. Eight years ago several hundred babies in the Province of Ontario died in one year of this apparently simple trouble. All evidence of loose stools in an infant who may appear quite well should be regarded as a warning and their continuance over twelve hours demands immediate medical attention. This may appear unduly alarming to those who have not seen the swiftly tragic results of neglect if diarrhoea but it cannot be too strongly emphasized that summer diarrhoea is a serious disease, more deadly than pneumonia.

How can we avoid and prevent this dreadful condition? Nurse your baby and he is practically safe. Breast fed babies are affected but rarely and all the serious cases occur in artificially fed infants. If your baby requires to be bottle fed the careful sterilization of all utensils required in the preparation of the feeds will go a long way to avoid contamination of the food supply. The milk which should be originally pasteurized must be boiled from three to five minutes and kept cool in the refrigerator until it is required. It is becoming established that infantile summer diarrhoea or cholera infantum or "intestinal flu" are all the same conditions and are infectious diseases.

The germs causing the trouble may be spread by flies or by the contact of soiled hands with the food. Therefore screening and all other means of excluding houseflies and scrupulous personal cleanliness are excellent measures to avoid the spread of infection. If any older members of the family have even the slightest diarrhoea he should avoid all contact with the baby because what may seem a minor trouble in the adult may assume dangerous proportions in the infant. It is in spite of these simple and common sense precautions, your baby should develop diarrhoea, omit all food except large quantities of boiled water until your doctor gives you further instructions. Regard the beginning of this trouble as worthy of your serious attention don't wait until the child becomes drowsy and sunken-eyed but act early and save the babies.
